

Hirohito at 42 Is Worshipped As Son of Heaven

Rising Sun Flags Float over Thousands of Communities

By GLENN BABB
Associated Press Staff Writer

Hirohito, the stooped, myopic little man whom the Japanese masses worship as the 124th son of heaven in the "line unbroken for ages eternal," is 42 years old today. This therefore is one of the national festivals which Japan devotes to reworking herself in the archaic, savage beliefs which has made her a scourge to half the world.

In the emperor's honor the Rising Sun flags are flying over thousands of communities spread across the great expanse that has fallen to Japanese arms in the last few years, from the newly finished Shinto shrine on Kiska in the North Pacific to the islands beyond Sumatra in the Indian ocean. It is a day for the warlords to recount the victories their armies have gained "by reason of the divine virtue" of the sovereign.

Ignore Own Victory

But they will not mention the victory which was a necessary prelude to all the others, the military caste's conquest of the throne itself. This it was that gave them the imperial prerogative as a weapon to win complete domination of the thought and life of the people.

There is general agreement now among westerners who know Japan that Hirohito, the God-emperor, had little or nothing to say about the decision to go to war against the United States and Britain and will have no more to say about the great decisions to come. His powers are almost completely in the hands of the grim, silent senior generals and admirals of the army and navy, generals whose front man is Premier General Tojo, who professes to be only the "moon reflecting the light of the sun"—meaning the emperor.

Die for the Emperor

There is no doubt, however, that the emperor cult, manipulated by the warrior cast, is a profoundly important factor in the catastrophe which has overwhelmed the Pacific world. It is the basis for the unanimity of the Japanese people, their acceptance of the warlords' tenet that to die for the emperor is the highest glory. It also supports the savage warrior code which makes possible such outrages as the execution of some of the American fliers who raided Tokyo.

Sixteen months of this war have convinced us that we are fighting a tough, desperate, fanatical enemy, embarked on an all-or-nothing attempt to conquer and rule half of the human race, if not more. The readiness to take such a supreme gamble springs directly from belief in a definitely-directed destiny which includes world dominion. Hirohito is the living symbol of this destiny. The Japanese worship him as the present day representative of the Sun Goddess Amaterasu, from whom he and all his line are believed to be descended.

When such beliefs are held by some 75,000,000 people, industrious, docile, capable of almost infinite labor, sacrifice and courage in the face of the enemy, and when this psychological weapon falls into the hands of a warrior caste, a great danger has been loosened on the rest of humanity. That is what has happened in Eastern Asia.

Conquest of Japan will involve more than the recovery of the great continental and island territories she has overrun, more even than invasion of the "land of the Gods." Men who have long knowledge of Japan believe that unless it results also in a fundamental change in the Japanese mind, in the replacement of the God-emperor cult and its corollary beliefs by something far less sinister, Japan will remain unfit to resume her place in the family of nations.

There is much discussion of the necessity of re-educating the German people, once they are conquered, to remove the effects of the Nazi indoctrination. In the case of Japan the war-producing cult is even more deeply instilled and of longer standing than in Germany. This Japanese holiday, therefore, is a day which challenges the United Nations to make sure that its sinister significance is destroyed for future generations.

lives against labor which can only result in undermining the morale and efficiency of workers with a devastating impact upon war production," the call continued.

Scores Congress

"Congress has also demonstrated a complete disregard for the war effort by rejecting President Roosevelt's proposal for incentive payments to farmers to increase food production, denying appropriations to the farm security administration to thwart the effort of small farmers and repealing President Roosevelt's limitation upon net annual salaries, after taxes, to $25,000."

"A grave responsibility is thereby imposed upon the CIO to mobilize its membership and the entire nation to either carry out the directive of President Roosevelt's executive order to roll back prices to the September 15, 1942, level or make the necessary wage adjustments to meet the increased cost of living and to stop and change the present policies of the administrative agencies and Congress which can only result in inviting inflation and undermining the war effort."

Employment Stabilization Program For Nation To Be Announced Soon

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The entire nation will be put under an employment stabilization program within forty-eight hours to enable workers, under certain circumstances, to shift from one essential employer to another for higher pay, officials said today.

At present such shifts can take place only in seventy areas or regions covered by stabilization programs set up through field offices of the War Manpower Commission. Elsewhere in the nation, the transfers are blocked under a job-control order which Manpower Commission Chairman Paul V. McNutt recently issued in pursuance of President Roosevelt's directive to hold the line against inflation.

McNutt's recent order forbade the job changing for higher pay unless workers were released from their former jobs in accordance with local stabilization program terms, which allow the WMC to block releases "not in the interest of the war effort."

Must Aid War Effort

By making the stabilization program nation-wide in scope, WMC will permit workers to change jobs for higher pay, providing the change is considered to be "in the interest of the war effort."

Officials, who asked not to be named, said Chairman McNutt probably would issue an order putting the program into effect after detailing its provisions to his twelve regional directors at a conference here.

The national program like its area and regional counterparts, will provide for grant of releases under certain conditions by the former employer or if he refuses, by the WMC or its United States employment service unit.

The National program was approved today by the Manpower Commission, composed of representatives of government agencies who serve McNutt in an advisory capacity. Earlier it had been approved the capacity to build at least 30,000,000 deadweight tons of shipping annually as long as necessary and asserted that if the steel and essential manpower are available "we can produce approximately 2,000 merchant ships a year."

War Food Administrator Chester C. Davis was unable to attend because of press of duties at Washington but in his speech, read by Deputy Administrator William Byrd, Davis declared farmers are doing planting in the American spirit of "dam the torpedoes; go ahead," and he expressed the hope this year's food output would top last year's record.

Consider Traveling Ration

Director of the Office of Defense Transportation Joseph B. Eastman, said the ODT regarded travel rationing as a last and desperate resort" to be used only if the public failed to adjust "its travel habits to war necessities."

WAACs To Fill Positions

Replacements to fill the varied positions held by officers under orders, the general said, will come from the ranks of officers now on duty with troops who are over age in grade, or who have been classified for limited service only, and to a considerable degree—particularly among the junior officers—by the co-operation between government and business "for the public good."

Blackout Rules To Be Enforced, Barrett Asserts Stab in the Back

Air Raid Director Warns More Despicable Than Italy's Attack on France, Salisbury

SALISBURY, Md., April 28 (AP)—"I must insist that the blackout rules and regulations of the various counties must be observed, and there will be no foolishness attached to this matter," Colonel Henry S. Barrett, state director of air raid precautions, wrote a reported Wicomico county violator.

The letter, contents of which were disclosed today, came in the first case reported to Colonel Barrett for violation of the army dimout regulations.

"This is the last time that you will be warned for the reason that, under a recent bill passed by the state legislature, a fine can be imposed upon you up to $500 for refusing to comply with blackout rules. It is not even necessary to arrest you, but simply get out a warrant and have you appear before a magistrate and have him handle the case."

"I am taking this measure because if I turn it over to the army and report to them that you have violated the blackout rules three times, by refusing to blackout your home, the fine in that case is up to $5,000 fine and a year in jail or both."

"In addition to this, the army may treat you as an undesirable character and remove you from the area."

3,000 Kentucky Miners Fail To Report for Work

Bring Total of Idle Men in Eastern Area to 10,000

JENKINS, Ky., April 28 (AP)—An estimated 3,000 United Mine Workers failed to report for the second work shift tonight and operations ceased at the Jenkins and nearby McRoberts, Ky., pits of the Consolidation Coal Company.

It was the first reported work stoppage in the Big Sandy field or UMW district thirty in north-eastern Kentucky and sent the total of idle union miners in Eastern Kentucky to 10,000. Approximately 7,000 UMW men previously ceased work in Harlan county, located in UMW district nineteen in South-eastern Kentucky.

The Harlan county total reached 7,000 when 3,000 men failed to show up at pits today. Altogether, twenty-one of the forty-one mines in the county have discontinued operations.

Miners in eastern Tennessee along the Kentucky border who also are members of UMW district 19 kept at their jobs today. Workers in the two other Kentucky fields, Hazard-Perry and Western Kentucky, also reported violent "attacks and counterattacks" in the area just south of Medez-El-Bab.

The Allied air forces, although limited somewhat by unfavorable weather, kept the enemy's front line areas and his communications and fuel fields under strong attack.

The First army's attack on the Djebel Bou Aoukaz, which lies twelve miles northeast of Medez-El-Bab as a barrier before the Medjerda plain, carried to about 400 yards short of the crest in the initial operations.

Threatens Strike

"Not one member of the United Mine Workers will trespass on the property of the operators in Illinois after Friday midnight, without the consummation of an agreement in New York, unless the operators agree to the demands of the miners made in New York."

"Upon the acceptance of these demands, the miners will assure complete and full production in the Illinois mines."

Edmundson's threat of a work stoppage resembled that of Lewis who declared yesterday that unless the miners had a contract to supplement the extended one expiring Friday night, they would not trespass on mine property.

The Illinois district and other districts outside the Appalachian area agreed to a thirty-day extension of the old contract, which would have expired March 31, after the negotiations did so in New York.

"Principal UMW demands are for a $2-a-day base wage increase, an $8-a-day minimum, portal-to-portal pay and inclusion in the union of minor supervisory personnel."

Face Cruel Enemy

"Certainly we now have a clearer idea of the nature of the enemy with whom we are dealing. If the Japanese will take special pains to march into a Chinese village, whose only crime is that of offering sanctuary to a handful of American fliers, and wipe out that village to the last harmless child—we no longer need to ask what the Japanese would do on marching into a city like San Francisco."

"They fired on your California coast, once, with a deck gun from a submarine. If they come back again, God forbid, they are not going to come with submarines and deck guns. Let's not fool ourselves. That's what we're up against."

"This is the last stop on a trip I started a week ago."

"I'd like to be able to tell you tonight that every community in the United States is flaming with war spirit, grimly determined to smash on through until we have won an unqualified victory."

"But we've got to be honest with each other."

"I have some inspiring and encouraging things to tell you, and I have some other things to say that are neither inspiring nor encouraging."

ready been issued, the first contingent of the officers ordered to their new duties will have reported to their new stations about May 1, the announcement said, and the last man ordered will be on his new duties by May 15.

Doubling of Taxes A Dangerous Idea

IN SPITE of the public reaction against any doubling up of federal income taxes, Chairman Doughton, of the House Ways and Means committee, has perversely concocted another so-called compromise bill in which he mixes retroactive taxes with the pay-as-you-go plan in a most preposterous manner.

Doughton would "forgive" a part of the 1942 taxes, but would have the remainder spread over this and the next two years along with the current taxes; and in the higher brackets that would not only come to confiscation but exceed it. That is to say, the payments Doughton would have made in those brackets would exceed the taxpayer's income. That would hit the rich, to be sure, but they are already hard hit, and to take more than one's income from any citizen, regardless of his status in the American economy, is an amazing proposal consideration of which is beyond the understanding.

But aside from the effect on the rich taxpayers, there is the effect upon all the others which a doubling up of the tax burden, already exceedingly heavy, to be considered. Taxes that reach the stage of confiscation, or near confiscation, will wreck the civilian economy, and that must be kept sufficiently strong and healthy to support the huge war program.

Doughton should listen to the saner members of his own party on this ticklish subject. Representative John S. Gibson, of the Eighth Georgia district, made a plea the other day in the House for common sense and justice in any pay-as-you-go taxation plan.

"From the press I see staggering, bewildered and confused sentiment in the Congress looking wistfully toward some system of spreading out payment of some portion of 1942 taxes over a period of years," he said. "Please do not do this. Our failure to pass this measure of pay-as-you-go is crime by omission of duty, but to force debt on the people of this nation as individuals to choke them through days of depression to follow would be crime by commission."

"We have placed our public debt at a high-water mark and one that is dangerous within itself, but if we now go to tying personal obligations onto our individual citizens as carry-overs, we have sounded the death knell of democracy."

"I was reared poor and am yet poor, which has brought to me a knowledge that could have come from no other source. That is how about ninety per cent of the people live. I know their problems, their emotions and their impulses, and finally, first hand, their hardships. The average American citizen has so many obligations and his family so many needs that are never filled until he by necessity spends what comes into his hands."

Representative Gibson is dead right about that. He is equally right in directing attention to the plight of the many thousands who have received no increases in pay or income and are forced to meet the high cost of living along with those whose incomes have been more than doubled. They should be given a break, he says; and they certainly should. These, as well as others, have not only the vital necessities of living to pay for usually listed, such as housing, food and clothing, but also other inescapable obligations, such as life and other insurance, payment on debts and so on. These people should be helped to make it possible for them not only to pay income taxes but also to purchase War bonds and give to essential community services serving to strengthen the social fabric.

It would be far better to stick to the old outmoded and inequitable system of income taxation than to resort to any crushing and demoralizing duplicated burden.

America Is Growing Old

AN IDEA of how America is aging is to be read into the recent announcement of the death of Miss Susan B. Hale, granddaughter of Mrs. Sarah Josephine Hale. Miss Hale died at Austin, Texas, where she had resided after retiring as clerk and translator for the Treasury department in Washington.

Sarah Josephine Hale was one of America's greatest women. One of her minor works, "Mary Had a Little Lamb," was once on every tongue and still has a fairly wide vogue. But that was no more representative of her talents than was George Washington's hatchet, a criterion of the accomplishments of the father of his country.

She was the first woman editor in America and for many years edited Godey's Lady's Book, the leading magazine for feminine readers of its day. Her interests ri-valed those of Benjamin Franklin, who had his hands in more things than any other American.

She was responsible for the permanent observance of Thanksgiving on a certain day. She founded Vassar college, helped Singer get his sewing machine on the market, sent the first woman medical missionary abroad, raised money to complete Bunker Hill monument, saved Mount Vernon as a national shrine and inspired the invention of the washing machine. While doing all this she found time to write thirty books and hundreds of poems.

Mrs. Hale was born in 1788, passed on ninety-one years later. Now her granddaughter has lived out her life's span. America is growing old.

A Republican Leader Gives Timely Advice

THOMAS J. CURRAN, the New York secretary of state, passed along a timely suggestion on the occasion of his reelection as president of the National Republican Club the other night in New York city. It is that the New Deal theorists are soon to be thrown out and that Republicans must begin now to plan seriously for the new responsibility that will be thrust upon them.

In the 1944 elections, Curran said, "the American people will throw the New Deal out, as they threw the Democrats out in 1920 and us out in 1932. It is time, therefore, for us to stop thinking in terms of the responsibility and opportunity of a minority party, and begin to think constructively and solemnly in the terms of the far greater responsibility of a Republican president in the White House and a Republican Congress."

It is too early to think of candidates now, Curran said, but noted that in the past a majority of the successful presidents have come out of the training school of the Congress or the governorships; and "if we look to that training school today, we find that the party has not one or two or a half dozen possible candidates, but a field of at least 300 who have met the test of popular election at the polls and have learned the principles and practice of democracy in the practical management of public affairs."

Indeed, events drew us the whole way around and soon we found ourselves also fighting on the side of Russia, contributing billions to her cause.

Only last week we withdrew most of our embassy from Finland, presumably because she would not make peace with Russia. We could not afford to be aiding an enemy of our new ally.

All the while, we harbored the exiled Polish government which had been crushed by the Nazis and invaded by the Soviets. But this week when that Polish government demanded a Red Cross investigation of Polish murders, our Soviet ally practically declared itself about these people in our midst by withdrawing diplomatic recognition. The Kremlin acted quickly, without consultation.

This act seemed a shock to us, but in view of the above history, it was logical and natural. The only reason it appeared to us as a shock was because we had nationally deluded ourselves into false assumptions.

Fighting for Homeland

Everyone with an eye clearly focused could see from the start that Russia was in this war because the Axis, apparently foreseeing that it will be subjected to heavy air assault, has concentrated its anti-aircraft guns at this point. When Rommel recedes into this refuge, Allied aircraft will give a demonstration of the power of the modern plane in the siege of a defended city.

A couple of years ago Mussolini had to stop calling the Mediterranean "Mare nostrum" (Our Sea). Now he can't even refer to "My Navy."

Post-war automobiles, as we understand it, will be so light that the heaviest thing about them will be the down payment.

Refinement?

By MARSHALL MASLIN

Long ago I grew a prejudice. It was small at first but it found much to feed on and it grew and sank its roots into me until at last it became a part of the way I feel and think and live.

At one time I used to be ashamed of it and tried to be rid of it. But it's years now since I tried that and at last I realized that I like this prejudice of mine and do not care about losing it. . . . Perhaps I'm even proud of it. I don't know.

What is that prejudice?

Well, I'm prejudiced against over-refinement. Against ladies who MUST have their tea at four o'clock or life is spoiled. Against gentlemen who go to the opera and suffer if one singer in the chorus fails a few notes or is too fat. Against fathers who insist on perfection from their children all the time. Against people who can't ENDURE ignorance . . . or slow thinking . . . or any crudity of manners . . . or bad voices . . . or young girls who giggle . . . or lads who waste their time . . . or working people with dirty hands. Against all those delicate beings who can't bear to talk about the manure that makes the rose so lovely and its perfume so sweet.

I'm prejudiced against THEIR refinement and I can't help it. I don't WANT to help it. It gets my goat . . . I'm not prejudiced against the refinement itself. It's an excellent thing for people to be sensitive and gentle and sympathetic about things that count.

But the people I don't like are those sensitive persons who boast of their refinement and think that Raw Nerves are a sign of culture. There ARE such people. I've known them and have even tried to live with them. They used to fool me but they fool me no longer. They boast about their refinement because they are NOT at home in this world. They are not complaining about the little irritations of living as much as about their fellow human beings. They are unhappy and snobbish or they wouldn't be so uncomfortable. It's Vanity, not Sensitivity, that's their trouble. They don't look upon life as an opportunity but as a Personal Insult. So they label themselves Refined and accuse the rest of the race of Coarseness and Savagery and Vulgarities.

Of what good is that kind of refinement to a world of men and women who are trying with all their might to be decent human beings? BISHOP ADNA WRIGHT LEONARD, of the Methodist church, arrived in London. He represents thirty-one American Protestant denominations on a visit to chaplains and service men on four continents. He brought President Roosevelt's greetings to all service men.

Human Equations Big Peace Factor, Paul Mallon Says

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 28—This is one world all right—but take another look at it behind the news of the day.

This war started when Germany attacked Poland September 1, 1939, and fifteen days later, Russian troops crossed Poland's border cancelling Soviet-Polish treaties. Indignation in this country ran high against both Germany and Russia.

Three months later, on November 28, the Soviet government renounced its non-aggression pact (1932) with Finland and, two days later, invaded that country. Popular American opinion against Russia hit such heights that we collected millions of dollars of our good money to aid the Finns against the Russians. Anyone in our country who did not contribute was an enemy of democracy.

These almost unanimous public beliefs of ours prevailed for nearly two years when Hitler suddenly (June 21, 1941) turned on Russia. All our thinking switched diametrically.

Looked On as Tool

Little Finland began to fight back against Russia, but we no longer considered her as a valiant democratic nation fighting against aggression. Her fight was the same, but this time, we looked on her as a tool of the Nazis.

Indeed, events drew us the whole way around and soon we found ourselves also fighting on the side of Russia, contributing billions to her cause.

Only last week we withdrew most of our embassy from Finland, presumably because she would not make peace with Russia. We could not afford to be aiding an enemy of our new ally.

All the while, we harbored the exiled Polish government which had been crushed by the Nazis and invaded by the Soviets. But this week when that Polish government demanded a Red Cross investigation of Polish murders, our Soviet ally practically declared itself about these people in our midst by withdrawing diplomatic recognition. The Kremlin acted quickly, without consultation.

This act seemed a shock to us, but in view of the above history, it was logical and natural. The only reason it appeared to us as a shock was because we had nationally deluded ourselves into false assumptions.

Fighting for Homeland

Everyone with an eye clearly focused could see from the start that Russia was in this war because the double-dealing Hitler had invaded her homeland, and that this homeland was what she was fighting for—not primarily to defend democracy or a new world democratic federation, or a quart of milk a day, not for the Four Freedoms, certainly not our conception of them as far as Finland and Poland are concerned.

Our swiftly changing publicity promoters, however, have tried to make some propaganda mesh out of the necessities which brought us and Britain into the war on the same side and to distort our ideals and our purposes. They did it so enthusiastically that they got us to believing that everyone on our side looked at this war as the average American man in the street.

Perhaps they even convinced themselves—until Moscow put them right. Indeed, Moscow dispatches say she might have acted earlier against the Poles in connection with other matters. Molotoff's note says straightout that Russia wants Polish territory.

Continual Trouble

And is Molotoff wrong in thus demanding to demand Polish territory? Poland was Russia, Austria and Prussia before the last World War. The treaty of Versailles restored her ancient individuality, but thereafter she always had trouble with Russia.

Stalin no doubt will contend eventually her eastern provinces are rightly his. It all depends on how

Question of Union Seizure Is Brought Up in Connection with Miners' Strike

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, April 28.—If the federal government in wartime can take over an employer's property and run it, why can't it take over a labor union and put in its own administrator?

When an employer refuses to obey the orders of the war labor board, the president of the United States publicly excoriates him and orders the army or the navy to take over the property. Seized properties sometimes revert to the management after it has granted the demands of the government, and sometimes they are operated by the government indefinitely.

Now the Russians say the Poles are making Nazi capital by bringing up the atrocity matter. That may or may not be.

The far more important thing to us is that these facts regarding Poland and Finland show how merciful has been our public opinion and how—whether high or low—it has seldom looked at the other fellow's side of the matter or understood his position. We too make up our opinions on a basis of our own self-interest. Every nation has, always will.

Realities Govern

Certainly here is the profound eternal truth of international relationships. Here is the basis upon which the post-war world must be built. It is a basis of conflicting interests, ancient territorial arguments, racial and religious complications.

The solution of our hopes to live in peace hereafter must be founded upon these human equations, these realities. It cannot be found in the stars of idealism or in the skies of self-deceptive hopes, or by throwing away of money and food to get temporary conformance.

It is one world, but it is an earthly world.

How To Save Typing

From the Pittsburgh Press

We don't suppose it's physically possible for any government department or bureaucracy to read all the tremendous flow of booklets, statements and other literature that pours out of Washington these days.

But we do wish that every official would read an attractive little book just issued in connection with the typewriter procurement program of the Treasury and WPB. Its title is "How to Make 3 Typewriters do the Work of 4."

Among other things, it advises:

"Discontinuance of all unnecessary and out-dated reports and records and the preparation of other reports at less frequent intervals. Simplification of such reports from a typing standpoint. Some records or reports fully justified under normal conditions might be dispensed with as an emergency measure."

Now, if the government will only practice what it preaches, hard-pressed business men will be able to release for war service a lot of typewriters devoted to filling out the flood of complicated questionnaires and forms which rolls in on us.

Reciprocal Trade Policy Renewal Clears Hurdle

Congressional Veto Power Proposal of Republicans Beaten 14 to 11

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The administration's request for a three-year renewal of the reciprocal trade policy cleared its first hurdle when the House Ways and Means committee voted down Republican proposals that Congress assume veto powers over negotiated treaties and otherwise restrict the administration's authority.

The committee's 14-11 vote for renewal sent the measure to the House for consideration next month after tax problems are cleared away.

One Democrat, West of Texas, sided with the committee's Republicans in opposing continuance of the program without amendment. The Democratic majority voted down four amendments presented by Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.), who said West "led the fight" for them. In turn, a 14 to 11 vote rejected proposals that would:

1—Give Congress ninety legislative days in which to veto any foreign trade agreement.

2—Restrict the program to two years.

3—Grant American producers the right to appeal an agreement to the customs courts if they could show that trade concessions granted any foreign country worked to their disadvantage.

4—Hold tariffs to a level where goods could not be imported at less than cost of production in this country.

One Republican amendment, by Rep. Dewey of Illinois, was adopted.

A REPORT TO THE NATION

on General Motors' Production, Employment, Economies and Profits

TODAY THE COUNTRY'S LARGEST PRODUCER OF WAR MATERIALS

During 1942 war production in General Motors increased rapidly. Deliveries in the fourth quarter were more than four times those in the fourth quarter of 1941 and were at an annual rate of more than three billion dollars. In reality, war production increased far more rapidly than dollar value indicates—thanks to decreases in cost of manufacture. General Motors' interests and energies are concentrated on speeding war production.

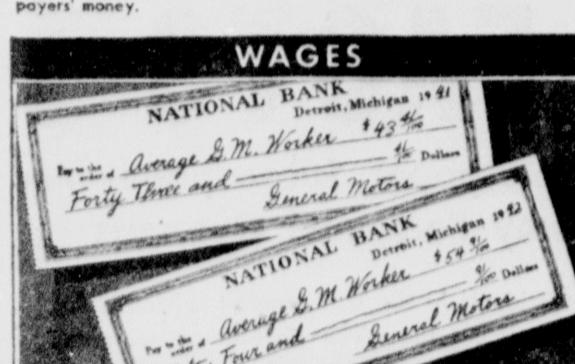

THROUGH BATTLE TESTS WITH FLYING COLORS—THE WORLD AROUND

General Motors' war products are now being used by both the Army and Navy on battlefronts all over the globe. Reports of their effectiveness—and, in many cases, of decided superiority over enemy equipment—are evidence of the quality materials and precision workmanship going into their manufacture. The great variety of equipment furnished is indicated below—and there are additional secret weapons which cannot be listed.

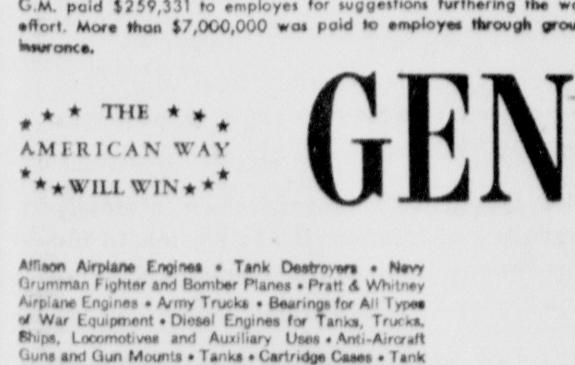

EMPLOYMENT FIGURES HAVE MOUNTED TO AN ALL-TIME HIGH

Although more than 50,000 G.M. people have joined the armed forces, employment in the U.S. and Canada now totals 370,000 in 1942—an all-time high. This increase involved great problems in training personnel. Hours worked increased to an average of 45.5 hours per week, compared to 40.7 hours in 1941. General Motors' employment is spread through 107 plants in the U.S. in 46 communities in 13 states—and five plants in Canada.

SAVING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS FOR UNCLE SAM—AND YOU

Along with increased employment and working hours, wages have risen substantially. Hourly workers, who averaged $43.41 weekly in 1941, averaged $54.91 in 1942—an increase of 26%. The payroll for both salaried and hourly rate employees in 1942 was $859,314,062. G.M. paid $259,331 to employees for suggestions furthering the war effort. More than $7,000,000 was paid to employees through group insurance.

GENERAL MOTORS' PROFITS WERE LOWER IN 1942

As a result of the industrial "Know-How" reviewed above, manufacturing costs were so reduced that, by the end of 1942, more than $177,000,000 had been voluntarily returned to the government in price reductions, and there will be an additional $183,000,000 in price reductions which will apply to subsequent deliveries under existing contracts.

ed. It provides that the president may suspend trade with any country shown to be dealing with international cartels—industrial and economic monopolies. Dewey said these cartels had injured American commerce.

Republicans in both House and Senate, and a few Democrats, have expressed belief Congress should have some say in foreign trade especially in the postwar world. The State department opposed the congressional veto, with Assistant Secretary Francis B. Sayre declaring "you might as well kiss goodbye to any concessions you'll get from another country."

Secretary Hill views the trade authority as a cornerstone of the peace, and with Nelson A. Rockefeller, co-ordinator of Inter-American Affairs, credited it with establishing and preserving good will in the South American Republics. Hill told the committee the United States is not at war today with any Nations with which it had negotiated trade agreements.

Tuesday Night Bowlers Have Dance and Banquet

The annual banquet and dance of the Tuesday Night Social Bowling League was held last night at the Clary Club with several hundred persons attending.

Michael P. O'Neill, Jr., league president, reported the standings of players at the end of the season. Eugene Gunning was toastmaster and he called on various team members for talks.

Comprising six teams of forty-two members the team winner was captained by Mrs. Esther DuVall. Her team won a trophy for the championship from the team headed by Mrs. Zelma Taylor. Other team captains and the order of their team's rankings are Mrs. Margaret Hansen, Mrs. Gladys Broadbeck, Mrs. Rhoda Lear and Mrs. Eloise Shaffer.

Mrs. Nellie Jenkins is treasurer of the league and Mrs. Inez Cornelius secretary. The Aristocrats played for the dance.

Minister and Wife Honored On Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. Louis Ewald were honored with a surprise party on their fifteenth wedding anniversary Monday night by the members of the Women's Guild of Holy Cross Episcopal church, of which the Rev. Ewald is rector.

The couple were presented with a lace table cloth as an anniversary gift. Mrs. Ewald was the former Bessie Gees of Baltimore and came here as a bride with the Rev. Ewald when he assumed the pastorate of Holy Cross church.

Canteen Group To Meet

Mrs. Morris Rosenbaum, chairman of the local canteen and shelter group of the Red Cross and emergency food and housing of the Office of Civilian defense, called a meeting of group leaders Tuesday night at her home in the Dingle.

The personnel of each group was checked and methods of maintaining and stimulating interest were discussed.

Leaders attending were Mesdames Nat Guggenheim, Porter D. Collins, Walter C. Capper, William A. Gunter, John F. Sommerville, William M. Sommerville and Miss Elizabeth Dickey.

Clair Bloom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clair Bloom, Corriganville, machinist mate at Norfolk, Va., Navy Yard, is on a brief visit at his parents' home, with his wife and two children who have been residing at Somerset, Pa., during his absence.

Sgt. Urban Mathews, called here by the illness and death of his mother, Mrs. Barbara Mathews, Corriganville, has returned to Camp Storey, Va.

Coffee Shortage Has Raised Chicory From the Dignity of a Weed to a Food

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
Since it seems to have become necessary for the American public to dilute its coffee, I have received a number of inquiries as to what chicory is. Chicory is one of those miserable and soulless plants with no ambition and no social standing—a mere creeper on the earth. It has, however, suddenly in this country been raised from the dignity of a weed to a food. Another name for it is succory.

In its wild state it is a native of Great Britain, found by roadsides. It would be. It has been cultivated more extensively, however, on the continent of Europe, especially in France. It has a long-fleshy tap-root, and this is the part that is used for an adulterant of, or an addition to coffee.

For this purpose the older, stout white roots are selected, and after washing they are sliced into small pieces and dried. This material is then roasted until it assumes a deep brown color. When ground, it is in its external characteristics very like coffee, but according to my informants, "It is destitute of its pleasing, aromatic odor." That part of their account, at least, is perfectly true. I distrust and disagree with their praise of this ignominious pariah.

Distantly Related To Endive
In botany it is distantly related to the endive. But the endive is a respectable member of the family and the next time anybody tries to pull some chicory on me I am going to suggest that they substitute some endive roots instead.

It used to be said for chicory that it was a mild laxative. But even this advantage has been dispensed by research in the Department of Pharmacology of Tulane university, which finds that chicory not only has no stimulating effect upon isolated strips of intestine, but even has a depressant effect. In short, instead of being mildly laxative, it is mildly constipating.

Questions and Answers

W. M.—Are all forms of heart disease found out by having a heart tracing on the electrocardiograph? Does this method definitely establish whether one has angina pectoris?

Answer: The x-ray and the stethoscope are more valuable than the electrocardiograph in establishing heart disease. However, in a case of angina pectoris the electrocardiograph is probably the most important.

TAWES SAYS STATE TAXES SHOULD NOT BE REDUCED NOW

ANNAPOLIS, Md., April 28 (AP) — State Comptroller J. Millard Tawes, in an address before the Annapolis Chamber of Commerce, told the members that state taxes should not be reduced during a period of inflationary danger.

Speaking on "State Finances during Wartime," the comptroller declared that "balances in state treasuries, including our own state, have already accumulated to unusual levels in several instances. Immediately such a situation appears, a pressure for tax reduction begins. That pressure mounts, and mounts, and mounts. It is a pressure for which I have much sympathy."

Food Conference Will Discuss Wide Scope of Problems

Consumptions, Production and Distribution Are on Agenda

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — The State Department says that the United Nations food conference will discuss a wide scope of problems in an effort to improve the world's nutrition and agricultural prosperity — but will make no commitments or agreements.

In announcing the conference agenda, the department said the recommendations can be made toward solving some of the problems. It observed:

"It [the agenda] recognizes that in the past excessive accumulations of certain products were in fact not surpluses at all when measured by the world's need of food and clothing; that these so-called surpluses were usually the result of mal-distribution and under-consumption. It then seeks to ascertain the prospects for so organizing world agricultural production as to enable the satisfaction of these needs and to explore the measures, both domestic and international, by which production can be enhanced and better directed in terms of consumption."

"Finally, it examines the measures and conditions which are necessary to assure that what can be produced moves into consumption."

Tawes said, however, that the broad public interest, the overall picture, now and for the future, requires that this pressure be resisted to a certain extent, for a period of great inflationary danger is not a proper time for reducing state and local taxes."

Counselling that harmonizing of federal, state and local fiscal policies "may well be a test of the strength and resiliency of our entire concept of democracy," Tawes said that if contradictory attitudes and policies were permitted to develop and persist, "our governmental organizations will suffer paralysis and democracy itself will be weakened: if we can nourish and develop unity in action and policies, democracy itself will be strengthened."

Topics for discussion were segregated under three headings—consumption, production and distribution.

Under consumption is listed such topics as the character and extent of consumption deficiencies in each country, the causes and consequences of malnutrition, measures for improving standards for consumption and reasonable national and international goals for improved food consumption.

Other agricultural products besides food are to be considered under this heading, particularly the subject of pre-war consumption levels in various countries as influenced by prosperity or depression and by the population's buying power.

Under the heading of production,

In 1807, settlers on the Maine coast built the Virginia, the first American ship constructed for ocean-going service.

When you wish to drive a nail into plaster, first dip the nail into melted paraffin. It helps keep the plaster from cracking.

The rest-pause that refreshes

Welcome in peace... more welcome in war work

WAR production needs are pressing. No time can be wasted on the job. Rest-pauses planned and timed are the efficient way to make every minute count. They lessen tension, break monotony, and increase output. Add refreshment to a rest-pause and you promote worker-contentment.

Ice-cold Coca-Cola is refreshment that does more than quench thirst. Drink it and you feel and enjoy a refreshing after-sense. Its clean, exciting taste always pleases, never tires. Coca-Cola offers something extra. All the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink.

Letters from plant managers from coast to coast emphasize that the little moment for an ice-cold Coca-Cola means a lot to workers in war plants. It's a refreshing moment on the sunny side of things... a way to turn to refreshment without turning from work.

IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!

Government Lifts Restrictions on Re-roofing and Re-siding with Asbestos Shingles

Special Ruling Is Made to Meet Critical War Problem ★

Many home owners have been postponing re-roofing and repairs to their homes because of their fear that only temporary materials would be available. Many others have obtained the impression that to have such work done would be contrary to the interest of winning the war.

If your home needs re-roofing, if the sidewalls need painting or repair, a special W. P. B. ruling just issued removes the restrictions on the use of asbestos shingles for this purpose. There is no longer any reason for you to postpone having this work done.

Pre-War Quality - Pre-War Prices

Johns-Manville Asbestos Shingles are manufactured to the same fireproof, durable quality standards as before the war. They are available at pre-war prices, too.

If your home needs painting or repair, we recommend J-M Asbestos Siding Shingles. They need no preservative treatment — are fireproof, permanent as stone — and will completely transform the appearance of your home. If you need a new roof, we recommend J-M Asbestos Roofing Shingles. They have the same desirable maintenance-free qualities.

Protect your home for today and for the future. We will be glad to show you samples of the new styles and new textures of these colorful shingles.

Long asbestos spinning fibre is an essential material in many war products. In making asbestos, for every ton of long asbestos fibre, many tons of shorter fibre must be produced. This shorter fibre must be utilized, and its principal use is in the manufacture of asbestos shingles. Restrictions were therefore lifted to increase the use of asbestos shingles and thereby insure an adequate supply of long asbestos fibre vitally needed for war.

Stocks Decline, but Regain Part Of Losses in Irregular Trading

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — The stock market stumbled briefly today, regained its feet and closed on a climbing note although in many cases leaders still were in the minus column at the finish.

Early trends were mixed, turned downward in mid-morning, then changed direction slowly in the last hours and, while losers were in the majority, a considerable sprinkling of plus marks cropped up.

The soft coal situation, with increasing report of work stoppage and talk of a full-scale tie-up, tended to discourage investment decisions, brokers said.

Transactions swelled by the increase in transactions during the upturn, rose to 880,170 shares for the full session compared with 827,870 Tuesday.

General Motors was one of the bell-wethers in the recovery, after lagging earlier. Chrysler also rose.

Alleghany Corp. preferred issues set new 1943 peaks and improved more than a point. Chesapeake and Santa Fe both moved into the plus column and other rails finished well above their lows.

International Paper was in the "new high" class and other risers included Goodyear, Pepsi-Cola, United Aircraft, Westinghouse, General Electric, Allied Chemical and Philip Morris.

Backward most of the day were U. S. Steel, U. S. Rubber; American Telephone, and Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Kennebunk, duPont, Southern Pacific, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Union Carbide and Boeing.

The Associated Press index of sixty stocks lost .1 of a point at 48.8. The rail section, which at noon was off .3 of a point, closed unchanged at 25.1. Of 859 issues traded against 857 Tuesday, there were 337 declines against 389, and 243 advances against 240.

Frostburg Council Completes Plans for Salvage Drive

Collection in Community Campaign To Take Place May 5, 6 and 7

FROSTBURG, April 28—The mayor and city commissioners in cooperation with the Frostburg salvage committee, represented by Ralph M. Rice, chairman, completed plans this week for the annual community campaign, which is to be held May 5, 6 and 7, starting each day at 8 a.m.

The collection of prepared tin cans and scrap rubber will take place Wednesday, May 5, when the town will be canvassed by trucks.

The general collection of rubbish in all streets west of Maple will be made Thursday, May 6 and from Maple street west, the collections will be made Friday, May 7.

If additional days are necessary to complete the clean-up, the work will be continued Saturday, May 8.

City officials and citizens interested in the clean-up ask that all persons begin at once planning for the removal of all rubbish, ash piles and other debris which detracts from the attractiveness of the community.

Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Alanz O. Cook, Wood Street, announce the marriage of their daughter, Kathryn, to Sgt. Peter V. Sabastano, of Jersey City, N.J.

The marriage took place in Baltimore April 10, with the Rev. Stephen W. Morosky officiating.

A graduate of Beall high school and the South Baltimore Hospital School of Nursing, the bride is on the nursing staff of the same hospital as supervisor in pediatrics.

Sgt. Sabastano was associated with his father as funeral director prior to entering the army. He is now stationed at Fort George G. Meade.

Glime Rites Held

Funeral services for John Glime, 57, who died Friday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Alice Callahan, Federalsburg, were held Monday afternoon from the Hafer funeral home, this city.

The Rev. George L. Wehrer, pastor of Salem Evangelical and Reformed church, officiated. The pallbearers were J. Taylor Crump, J. Marshall Stewart, Dr. Walter Jeffries, Grant Durst, William Jenkins and John Metzger. Interment was in Allegany cemetery.

Mrs. Luvina Rowe Dies

Mrs. Luvina (Beeman) Rowe, 69, wife of Alexander Rowe, Gilmore, died Wednesday morning at Miners hospital, where she was a patient for three weeks.

Surviving are three sons, Pvt. John W. Rowe, Santa Anita, Calif.; Arthur C. Rowe, Tionesta, Pa.; Alexander M. Rowe, Frostburg; a sister, Miss Bertha Beeman, Gilmore; a daughter, Mrs. Joseph McKenzie, Frostburg; twelve grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

Frostburg Briefs

The Ladies Aid society of the Congregational church will meet Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Edith Hitchins, West Street, with Mrs. Hitchins as hostess and Mrs. Nora Kasecamp in charge of the devotions.

Ring the Bell

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Twenty-five cents is an adequate tip for a New Orleans bellhop; any less is "storn," a new one the boys got up by blending "stingy and corny."

The bellhops are making considerably more than hay while the sun shines on this city as a war production and military center. Some report "as high as 50 dollars a day on tips alone—occasionally ten bucks a shot."

The Intercivic club was pleased with the response received from the various organizations in town in regard to their recommendations concerning a venereal clinic, supervision of young people and a place for getting together this summer, and a campaign to clean up the town. The club also plans to recommend that the council pass a vagrancy law prohibiting the loitering and loafing about certain buildings and corners in town.

Synthetic Rubber Gets Face Washed

BALTIMORE (P) — The national synthetic rubber program, when in full stride, will use enough common soap as an emulsifier every day "to make a soap trace twenty-five miles long if converted into ordinary laundry-size bars," according to Dr. R. V. Yohe, B. F. Goodrich research chemist.

Further reducing to understandable size the program now counted on to produce close to 250,000 tons of synthetic rubber this year and to hit the 900,000-ton-a-year rate by late 1944. Yohe says the man-made latex required daily would fill a tank-car train nearly two miles long. The main component of that latex, butadiene, would fill 100 tank cars a day.

"For 'seasining' the other materials, the synthetic rubber industry will need common table salt as one ingredient — a 'pinch' of salt that will run to 500,000 pounds a day," he says.

OPA To Fix Price Of "New" Liquors Placed on Market

'Big Four' of Whiskey Firms Attempting To Gain Monopoly, OPA Says

WASHINGTON, April 27 (UPI)—OPA intends to fix gross profit margins for wholesale and retail whisky dealers and set flat prices for "new" brands of liquors, it has been known, as part of a campaign against what officials called a "black market" in diminishing supplies of beverage spirits.

J. K. Galbraith, deputy price administrator, said criminal actions are contemplated against "any large operators who are found to have purchased bulk whisky at prices in excess of ceilings," and "treble damage suits" against the sellers.

Galbraith related OPA's plans in a letter to Rep. May (D-Ky.) who had complained in the House last

Barbara Childs Wins at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP)—Making her first start of the year, Mrs. Merrill MacNelle's Barbara Childs earned a neck decision in the featured $1,500 Single Foot purse at Pimlico today, defeating eleven other sprinters over a six-furlong distance.

Barbara Childs ran in fourth place for most of the race, but charged down the stretch to earn the major share of the purse from J. Y. Christmas's Rough Pass. The odds-on favorite, Capt. H. H. Hecht's Ask Aunt Ada, finished third another neck behind Rough Pass.

Barbara Childs, a four-year-old daughter of Clock Tower, withstood a long stretch drive by the Christmas color bearer to complete the six furlongs in 1:13 2-5 over a fast track.

She was neglected by the crowd of approximately 9,000 persons, and returned $39.40, $16.30 and $6.90 across the board.

The winner was well placed at the start, and ran off the pace set by Ask Aunt Ada, which was pushed by Carnius and Lord Vatout. Jockey Paul Keiper shook up Barbara Childs in the stretch, and she came on to dispose of Ask Aunt Ada and to stave off the game closing bid of Rough Pass. The latter, which was well back in the early stages, went wide on the stretch turn for racing room.

Record Place Payoff Of $261.60 Chalked Up By Filly at Pimlico

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP)—A two-year-old filly making her second start of the season chalked up a record place payoff for the season today at Pimlico, paying $261.60. The show price was $53.20.

The filly, Edmar Farm's Anizgoce, went to the post at odds of better than 218 to one, and lasted by a nose to finish second ahead of Free Dutch in the four and a half furlong test for maiden two-year-olds. Track followers said the $261.60 place price was the longest place mutuel paid in Maryland in a long time.

Backers of Mrs. H. D. Massey's Which Ace, the winner, didn't do so badly either. Which Ace, a rank outsider making his first start, led all the way, finished four lengths in front and paid $64.30.

The daily double payoff also was a new high for the meeting. The combination of Which Ace in the first and Red Chip in the second race paid $339 for $2.

Burnt Cork Is Still a Likely Derby Starter

Rochester's Hope Boosts Possible Field to Nearly 12

By SID FEDER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28 (AP)—It appeared today that Burnt Cork still is a likely starter in Saturday's Kentucky Derby and in that case the boys and girls—a little doubtful now as to who will win—were convinced they know who'll finish last.

The Cork is the big, handsome bay-stoker owned by Rochester of the radio and off his training tricks and his latest racing effort—he staggered home last in yesterday's derby trial—starting him in the derby mile-and-a-quarter would be a whole lot funnier than any of his owner's gags ever were.

Returning to the list—the say-so of Mr. Benny's man Friday of the ether—boosts the possible starting field for the blue grass brawl to somewhere between nine and a dozen, headed by Count Fleet and Ocean Wave.

Both of these glamour boys have had more foot trouble lately than postman with fallen arches, but the word today was that the Fleet's gashed left hind foot was healing up nicely and the Wave's cracked left front heel wasn't cracked enough to keep him from hitting his cut at that $75,000 barring complications.

Costs $500 To Start

As a matter of fact, Trainer Ben Jones insisted that three days of treatment and "rubbing" would be just what the doctors ordered for the Wave, just as a similar "dose" fixed up Lawrin's split hoof when he waltzed in with the 1938 derby for Ben.

Jones pointed out that the crack the Wave come home with in cakewalking to nine-length victory on yesterday's derby trial mile was just a recurrence of the one he brought back in winning the Blue Grass Stakes a week ago.

When Burnt Cork finally ambled to the finish line yesterday, even the folks who don't know a race horse from a merry-go-round mount voted unanimously that anything over three quarters of a mile for the Cork is strictly a cross-country bunch.

"The dead ball favors the average pitcher," Cooper explained, because it gives him an advantage he doesn't possess over the hitters, who can't drive it far and wide.

It penalizes the better pitcher who could win with any kind of a ball because his team has difficulty getting him the runs he needs. The result is that a game can be decided by a break and the breaks frequently go against the better team.

"Why, with the dead ball, I believe Philadelphia would be as much a pennant contender as the Cardinals."

May Have Been Kidding

Of course, it is possible the Cork was only out there kidding the folks yesterday, but after leading for half a mile, he stopped as if the Chicago Bears' line hit him.

Anyway, a couple of exercise boys were heard making a bet this morning that the Cork would finish at the end of the line. If he does he'll be the second California candidate in as many years with that doubtful honor. Last year it was Bob and Spur for E.C.A. Berger, of Los Angeles.

One other bit of derby doing turned up today when Charley Swain, a local saddle artist, agreed to ride Modest Lad for Mrs. Henry L. Finch, wife of a New York stock-broker, instead of Dove Pie, from the barn of J. Warfield Rodgers, of Memphis.

Tigers Win, 4-2, As Bridges Stars

Senators Blank Athletics, 3 to 0

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Outhit, the Washington Senators trounced the Philadelphia Athletics, 3-0, today with the help of Rookie Ewald Pyle's pitching and a couple of costly Philadelphia misplays.

Ellis Clary, Senator third baseman, started the scoring in the third inning. Walked to first, he got to third on Russ Christopher's wild pitch and scored on an infield grounder by Gene Moore.

In the fourth, Dick Siebert, Philadelphia first baseman, fumbled Mickey Vernon's grounder. Then, with two out, shortstop Irving Hall muffed a drive by Jake Early to put two on. John Sullivan, the Senator's shortstop, hit weakly to the pitcher's box. Christopher threw wild to first, and Vernon and Early scored.

The A's got men to third three times with only one or none out, but failed to produce a score. Christopher held the Senators to five hits while Pyle gave up six. The box:

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Joseph Roy Lashbaugh, who departed this life, April 29th, 1942.

Sad and sudden was the call. Of one so deeply loved by all. A bitter grief, a shock severe. It comes with us near, dear. We often sit and think of you, And speak of how you died. To think you could not say good-bye. You have gone to rest, yes. But we realize God knows best. May He grant you eternal rest.

Sadly missed by
WIFE AND CHILDREN.

Card of Thanks

I take this means to express my appreciation to my friends and neighbors who were so kind to me during my recent bereavement, the death of my husband William A. Rehberg. I especially wish to thank the Knights of Columbus, Feltz Workers Rev. Baronians, and those who sent floral tributes and donated the use of their cars for the funeral. His wife.

DOROTHY.

Large Scale Automobile Theft Ring Discovered As Result of Accident

Two Men Are Held under Heavy Bond, Another Commits Suicide; Forty-nine Stolen Cars Have Been Recovered; Ring Operated in Many States, State Police Reveal

With Our Boys In the Service

An automobile abandoned here following an accident in the Narrows on Nov. 14, 1942, led to the discovery of a large scale automobile stealing ring covering many Eastern, Southern and Mid-Western states and the recovery of forty-nine stolen automobiles to date, state police headquarters in Pikesville revealed last night.

Seldon W. Fairchild, Washington, investigator for the Automobile Underwriters Detective Bureau, said last night that two men who were registered at a local hotel for a short time following the accident were implicated and are imprisoned in Columbus, Ohio, and St. Louis, Mo., under heavy bond.

A Goldsboro, N. C., taxi operator who also was connected with the ring, according to Fairchild, killed himself a short time after federal authorities questioned him. He committed suicide, Fairchild said, before the authorities had left his property. Eight cars in the taxi fleet were stolen automobiles, the investigator added.

Beamer Breaks Case

Lieut. G. E. Davidson, in charge of the bureau of investigation and identification of the Maryland State Police, said that State Trooper M. Frank Beamer, who began the investigation in the abandoned car case, and other officers at the La Vale barracks "deserve a lot of credit" in bringing the ring to light.

Lieut. Davidson added that the cars are being "distributed all over the country." Fairchild explained that the ring "victimized dealers more than individuals."

Beamer and State Trooper James N. Simmons, since transferred from Barracks "C" were on night patrol when they discovered the car which apparently had struck a pole along the road and then careened into a yard.

Investigation revealed the wreck occurred about 4 a.m. and that the operator was brought to a local hotel by a passing motorist. At the hotel Beamer found that a "John Randall" had registered for himself and a "Ted Baldwin," giving their address as 1065 Bryden road, Columbus, Ohio.

Baldwin, Beamer said, was believed to be the driver of the car. Both men checked out of the hotel before 7 a.m.

Baldwin and Randall are the two men held by authorities, the former in Columbus, Ohio, and the latter in St. Louis, Mo.

The same day the wreck occurred a local garage received a telephone call from Washington asking that the car be towed in for repairs. The caller, giving the name of Ray or Roy Youngsman, according to Beamer, said he removed the license tags from the car because he had to leave in a hurry.

Check Secret Numbers

Two days later the garage was called again about the car but when an employee asked the name of the caller he hung up.

A check of the motor number on the automobile led to the ultimate discovery of two other cars bearing the same motor number, one in Virginia, one in North Carolina as well as the one here.

Fairchild and Lieut. Davidson came to Cumberland in December and after checking the secret motor number of the machine here found that the car had been stolen in Columbus, Ohio. The car in Virginia, Fairchild said, had been taken in Dayton, Ohio, while the car in North Carolina had not been stolen and was properly titled. Recovery of the other cars followed.

Termin members of the ring as "expert number changers," Fairchild said they did an "excellent job" on the motor numbers, so good that they could hardly be distinguished from the original numbers.

Lieut. Davidson said the last car to be recovered, the forty-ninth to date, was located Monday at St. Idigoes, St. Mary's county, Md., and Fairchild said the car had been purchased from the Brown Motor Company, a fictitious concern, at Richmond, Va. The car was bought, Fairchild said, by a tractor driver on an airport construction job at Beachville, Md.

Fairchild said many of the cars were stolen in states where there is no titling law and then members of the ring obtained titles in states where such a law was in effect.

Investigation showed they obtained titles and then stole cars to fit the description. Fairchild revealed that twenty-two automobiles were stolen in Columbus, Ohio, alone, and said that all of the cars were locked when they were taken.

C. N. Wilkinson, Jr., Joins Sales Staff

Announcement was made yesterday that Charles N. "Jerry" Wilkinson, Jr., has been appointed to the sales staff of the retail branch of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, South Mechanic street. Jury Finds Tavern Keeper Guilty

Mrs. Ruth Durkin Fined $50 for Selling Beer to a Minor

Mrs. Ruth V. Durkin was found guilty by a jury yesterday in circuit court of selling beer to a minor and the court fined her $50 and costs. Marie Davis, jointly charged with Mrs. Durkin, was found not guilty. Testimony revolved around the age of a girl who allegedly purchased beer in the Durkin tavern, Williams street. The prosecuting witness is 18 years of age, according to Morgan C. Harris, state's attorney. Edward J. Ryan, defense attorney, stated that it was next to impossible for anybody to tell a woman's age.

Ryan asked two court attaches to estimate the girl's age. The court stenographer said she looked to be 24 while the court librarian said she appeared to be 18 years of age. Defense witnesses said the girl had been warned by Mrs. Durkin's husband to keep out of the place and that she did so for several months.

Speros Ataros, who conducts a business on Mechanic street, pleaded guilty to selling beer to a minor and he was fined $50 and costs. Clarence Shutter, attorney, represented the defendant.

100 Meat Dealers Hear OPA and FDA Officials Speak

Barrage of Questions Greets Meat Price Specialist at Meeting Here

Orville Beadle, assistant food administrator, of the FDA, first of the three speakers introduced by Harry A. Porch, of the Cumberland War Price and Rationing Board, who presided, spoke on Food Distribution Order No. 27 which requires that no one shall slaughter livestock for sale of meat without first obtaining a permit which calls for a slaughter quota.

This part of the meat control is specifically planned to help protect meat industry, dealers and consumers from competition through illegal practices, and makes it possible for everyone to spot black market problems.

Beadle declared.

Must Obtain Permits

The speaker summed up the regulation as follows:

1. All who slaughter livestock for the sale of meat must obtain a Federal permit.

2. All major wholesale cuts of meat must be stamped with the permit number.

3. The slaughter permit and meat restriction orders limit slaughter and sales to certain percentages of 1941 slaughter and sales.

4. Local slaughterers and butchers shall not slaughter more than their quota of each type for the month.

"All of you undoubtedly realize the tremendous importance of the new meat program, and for your protection, and in the interest of your community, you should co-operate in making it effective," Beadle concluded.

Richard Wood, rationing official of the OPA, former meat salesman who once resided in Cumberland, spoke on rationing and explained the regulations governing primary distributors. He urged that farmers collect stamps from consumers for butter and meats, according to the price charts issued by the OPA, and declared that meat prices in effect now were fixed by the American Institute of Meat Packers following an exhaustive survey.

In answer to several queries regarding discrimination, Wood replied that the OPA has no control over packers relative to whom they shall sell or how much they shall sell or deliver.

Rochester Weathers Storm

A barrage of questions greeted Fred Rochester, meat price specialist of the OPA, third and final speaker on program but he managed to weather the storm in a most diplomatic manner.

"Some of these regulations are Greek to me," Rochester declared, "but they're government regulations issued during a war emergency and patriotic citizens are urged to abide by them."

"I know meat prices but I'm not a meat cutter," Rochester replied after he read a long-winded regulation which had his audience chuckling throughout.

One farmer was overheard to remark, "a farmer used to have a legitimate business but now it's a black market."

The consensus of opinion among those present seemed to be that the entire price situation is too complicated and as a result much "chiseling" is going on.

Offers Suggestion

One retailer said that the meat problem could be ironed out in a jiffy if a ceiling was placed at the source—livestock sales—but the powers-that-be in Washington are afraid of the powerful farm bloc.

At the conclusion of the meeting, a group agreed that what was told them by the three speakers they already knew. They said they attended with the hope of learning of some new developments in the muddled meat price situation.

As a grand finale, Chairman Porch remarked that a "sassy is a person who resigns from the OPA to join the Commandos."

It is important, she said, to pack such foods as peas, beans and corn, which contain considerable starch, which expands as the vegetable heats, to within an inch of the top of the jar; while spinach and kale are packed to within a half inch of the jar top.

Stenographers, Typists Needed by Government

Stenographers and typists are still urgently needed by the Navy department in Washington for war work. F. Jerome Kearful of the Fourth United States Civil Service Region stated yesterday. All interested should call at the Civil Service office, post office building, at once.

Salaries range from $1752 to $1971 per year. A representative of the Navy department will meet employees in Washington, and will assist in finding living quarters.

Typists should be able to type at least thirty-five words per minute, and stenographers should be able to take dictation at the rate of at least eighty words per minute.

One Birth Reported

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph G. Albright, 929 Glenwood street, announce the birth of a daughter in Memorial hospital Saturday.

Son of Frederick Publisher Dies In Plane Crash

Lieut. William T. Delaplaine One of Eight Men Killed in Calif.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28 (AP)—Names of the eight men killed in a navy plane crash on a hill east of Oakland last night were announced today by the navy. They were:

Lieut. William F. Hardie, USN, 25, pilot, Oakland, Calif., who came from Chicago.

Lieut. William T. Delaplaine, III, USN, 23, a pilot, Alameda, Calif., whose former home was in Frederick, Md.

Lieut. John P. Jones, USNR, 34, a pilot, Alameda, Calif.

Flight Orderly Gerald Naughton, specialist third class, USNR, 28, Long Beach, Calif.

Their next of kin have been notified.

Names of the other men killed were withheld pending notification of relatives.

Two other men were injured seriously in the crash. The transport scraped the top of a 1,500-foot hilltop, spinning the craft to earth.

Stressing the importance of immediate action in order to meet the campaign deadline, Gunter gave to his listeners some conception of the amount of money of county quota involves, the number of county men in service and the number of parents concerned in simple Allegany county terms.

"You know, Allegany county's quota in this War Bond Drive is $2,240,400," Gunter said. "This is quite a sum of money for Allegany county to raise in a hurry. To give you some idea as to the amount involved, let me say that it is equal to more than one-half the assessed value of every piece of real estate located within the town of Frostburg."

Seven other men were killed in the crash and two were injured seriously. The navy said the transport scraped the top of a 1,500-foot hilltop, spinning the craft to earth.

Delaplaine, 23, was graduated from Washington and Lee University in 1939 and entered the navy in 1940. He won his pilot's wings at the Pensacola, Fla., naval air base and was commissioned an ensign. He was later stationed at Jacksonville, Fla., and Fort Worth, Texas, before his transfer to Oakland a few months ago.

Delaplaine formerly was employed as reporter on the Frederick newspapers published by his father and his uncle, R. E. Delaplaine. He was unmarred.
